Spencer Thompson is an Associate Attorney at Sanchez Fischer Levine, based in the firm's Miami office. His practice focuses on complex commercial litigation and general business disputes in both state and federal court.

Prior to joining Sanchez Fischer Levine, Spencer represented individuals and companies in civil litigation at one of Florida's largest law firms.

A proud "Double Gator," Spencer earned both his undergraduate and law degree from the University of Florida. There, he became an accomplished journalist, publishing more than 70 articles and reporting for WUFT, the local PBS and NPR affiliate. As a law student, Spencer interned for a Federal Judge in Philadelphia, was recognized for his academic achievement, and was a member of the Journal of Technology Law and Policy.

A Florida native, Spencer is an avid college sports fan, seasoned musician, and enjoys serving his community through his church.
